

GENERAL STATEMENT REGARDING LEGAL REQUIREMENTS IN THE AREA OF PRODUCT-RELATED ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

Dear Sir or Madam,

According to our investigations and based on the information provided by our suppliers, we confirm that the currently available BADA plastic compounds of the product families

BADAMID® / BADATECH HT® / BADADRON® / BADAFLEX® / BADAPRENE® / BADADUR® / BADALAC® / BADAFORM® / BADALON® / BADADROP® / BADAGREEN®

are in compliance with the regulations, directives and laws listed below.

Furthermore, none of the restricted or prohibited substances from the respective regulation or directive are formulated components of the materials, nor do they arise during processing, unless explicitly stated in the data sheet or safety data sheet of the respective material type.

RoHS-Directive 2011/65 (EU), sowie deren delegierten Richtlinie 2015/863

WEEE-Directive 2012/19 (EU)

POP-Regulation 2019/1021 (EU)

PAK-Regulation 1272/2013 (EU)

Konfliktmineralien-Regulation 2017/821 (EU)

Ozonschichtschädigende Stoffe - Regulation (EG) Nr. 2024/590

TSCA (Toxic Substance Control Act) according Section 6h

Conflict Minerals (Dodd-Frank-Act/CMRT)

The information given above was compiled carefully and represents the state of Bada AG's knowledge and results of our investigation at issue date. The information is based on the data provided by our raw material suppliers.

Some substances are ubiquitous or can be found in traces in the various ingredients. The monitoring of the substances relevant to the above regulations is not part of Bada AG's regular product testing and quality control.

This document is valid for originally packed material supplied by Bada AG. With respect to the significant influence of processing conditions, the recipient of material supplied by Bada AG is obliged to carry out own tests and perform own investigation to ensure the suitability of the material for the specific application or purpose. No guarantees for specific properties are given with this document.

It is the responsibility of the recipient of the material to ensure that existing laws and legislation are respected.